ROCHELLE CEREAL MILL DESTROYED BY FIRE TODAY

FEMALE LIQUOR RUNNER KILLED BY KAN. SHERIFF

Threatened Officer As He Attempted To Stop Her Auto

Herrington, Kansas, Nov. 16—(UP)—A woman riding in an automobile loaded with bootleg liquor was shot and killed here last night by Sheriff Whitney C. Dedrick, who said he acted in self-defense.

The woman, Louise Horton of Kansas City, Mo., was described as "a liquor crazed" by Sheriff Dedrick. He said he shot her after she had pulled a gun on officers who halted her and her companion, Matt Howard, also of Kansas City, on a tip that they were running through liquor.

Forty gallons of liquor were found in the car, the sheriff said.

On a tip that the car was carrying liquor, Sheriff Dedrick and Arthur Calkins, chief of police, awaited the "spotted" automobile. They jumped on the running board and commanded Howard, its driver, to halt. Sheriff Dedrick, corroborated by Chief Calkins, said the driver speeded up. They said the woman then drew a pistol.

When the woman drew the pistol from her pocket she pushed it into the ribs of the sheriff, he said. "Jump off, you fool, or I'll kill you!" he quoted her.

The sheriff then drew his gun and fired one shot into the body of the woman, killing her instantly.

At the police station, Howard said that the dead woman was Mrs. Louise Horton. He said that he and the woman lived at 444 Broadway in Kansas City, which is one of the better residential districts there.

Howard exonerated the sheriff in the shooting and said the woman whom he declared was crazed by drinking her own liquor, probably would have killed the officer had he not shot her.

Howard told the sheriff that the woman was in the bootlegging business and that he merely was her driver. He said the 40 gallons of liquor found in the sedan belonged to her.

The driver made a lengthy statement to County Attorney William J. Scott and the sheriff.

Husband In Jail
He told the authorities that Mrs. Horton's husband had been engaged in the bootlegging business for some years and that he is now serving a year for liquor possession in the jail at Cottonwood Falls, Kansas.

"I guess I'll be the goat for all this mess," Howard, 34 years old and well dressed, said, "but I had nothing to do with her bootlegging business. She paid me well for my services, so I worked for her."

The shooting took place in front of the city library and several scores of people quickly gathered when they heard the bark of the pistol. Mrs. Horton was taken to a hospital in the car where it was found she was dead.

Expensively Dressed
She wore several large diamond rings and an expensive wrist watch. She had a considerable amount of money and was expensively and modishly dressed.

Mrs. Horton was described as about 35 years old, attractive, with red hair and brown eyes.

An inquest into the death of the woman will be held later today.

"Of course," said Sheriff Dedrick, "I am extremely sorry it happened. It's unpleasant and distasteful now to have to shoot a man, let alone a woman."

"I am convinced, however, that if I had not shot, she would have killed me. A liquor-crazed woman with a pistol is a combination which can not be treated lightly. But it was my life against hers and I was quicker with my pistol."

Former Supt. Chicago Police Died Today

Chicago, Nov. 16—(UP)—Captain James A. Gleason, who served as Superintendent of Police during Carl Harrison's last term as Mayor of Chicago died of pneumonia here today. He had been a member of the police force for 43 years.

Gleason was removed from the superintendency when William Hale Thompson entered office. For a time he served as secretary to the present Deputy Commissioner of Detectives, William Steg, but recently was placed on the "shelf" in the Irving Park District.

Liquor Schooner, U. S. Bound, Sinks

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 16—(AP)—The French schooner, Emma Sebae, which authorities said was a rum runner loaded with whisky destined for the American coast, sank 90 miles north of Bermuda, and the master and crew were picked up by the British ship Homeward Bound.

Penny For Candy Found Clutched In Hand Of Dead Child

Chicago, Nov. 16—(AP)—Two automobiles killed nine-year-old Edna Coyle last night as, with a penny in her hand, she started across the street to buy a lollipop. One automobile knocked her down and the other ran over her. Picked up dying, the child still was holding the penny tightly in her hand.

HOOVER TAKES LEAD IN MOVE FOR BUSINESS

Conference Of Prominent Men To Be Called Coming Week

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—President Hoover today assumed command of the nation's business for the purpose of leading some of its activities out of the slough into which they dropped with the rise and fall of the stock market.

Applying his favorite remedy—a conference of informed, interested and influential men—the Chief Executive plans "by definite steps" a stimulation of those few phases of industry which lagged behind as the country's money was poured into the security markets.

These are particularly the fields of private and public construction—railways, ships, public utilities and federal state and municipal public works. The conference will be held next week, attended by representatives of industry, agriculture and labor, as yet unannounced, four members of the Cabinet and Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board.

Announced Plan Friday
Mr. Hoover announced this plan late yesterday and at the same time asserted that "any lack of confidence in the economic future or the basic strength of business in the United States is foolish." He pointed to the "establishment of credit stability and ample capital through the Federal Reserve System" to support this view and particularly to the recent announcement of a prospective reduction in federal taxes, as a demonstration of the confidence of the administration which speaks "more than words."

The postponement of construction work in recent weeks Mr. Hoover regarded as providing "a substantial reserve for prompt expanded action" and as another favorable factor he cited "the exceptionally strong cash position of the large manufacturing industries" of the country.

"The magnificent workings of the Federal Reserve System and the inherently sound condition of the banks have already brought about a decrease in interest rates," he said, "and an assurance of abundant capital—the first time such a result has been so speedily achieved under similar circumstances."

Prominent Visitors.
The names of those who will attend the conference are to be announced within the next few days. In this connection, it was recalled that the President's visitors during the week have included Julius Barnes, chairman of the Board of the United States Chamber of Commerce; Adolph Lewisohn, a New York financier; Henry J. Pierce, the president of several subsidiaries of the Electric Bond and Share Company; Roy A. Young of the Federal Reserve Board and Matthew Woll of the American Federation of Labor.

The Cabinet members who will attend the conference are Secretaries Mellon of the Treasury Department, Hyde of the Agriculture Department, and Lamont and Davis of the Commerce and Labor Departments.

Approval of the President's step was expressed by President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader of the House, and Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. Democratic spokesman Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the leaders of the Independent-Republican group, declined to comment. A few days ago he suggested an investigation of the causes of the recent stock market disturbance.

Iowa Man Suicides In Rock Island Inn

Dock Island, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—A coroner's inquest was to be held today into the death of Harry Starbuck, 60, Cedar Rapids, Ia., who was found dead in his room, a victim of cyanide of potassium poisoning, here yesterday.

Starbuck registered at the hotel five days ago and was a representative of the Iowa Railway & Light Co., Cedar Rapids.

Local acquaintances said he had been despondent for several days.

SLIGHT HOPE IS HELD OUT TODAY FOR SEC. OF WAR

Doctors Pronounce His Condition Extremely Critical

BULLETIN

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Physicians attending Secretary Good issued a bulletin at noon saying the War Department chief had slept practically all of the morning and reiterating his chance for recovery depended upon his ability to resist an apparent case of blood poisoning. The bulletin read:

"Secretary Good has been sleeping practically all morning. At noon he awakened and was given treatment. His case depends on what his own resistance can do. There is no evidence of intestinal obstruction. His temperature, respiration and pulse are lower. The involvement of the chest seems to be somewhat subsided. His condition is apparently one of general sepsis (blood poisoning)."

The Secretary underwent an operation Thursday for acute appendicitis.

Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—Only slight hope for the recovery of Secretary Good was held out today by his staff of physicians who described his condition before noon as extremely critical.

Whether the War Department chief would be able to recover appeared, they said to depend upon considerations outside of their control.

All that medical science could provide, they added, had been done for him and it was a question of standing by to see what the next few hours would develop in condition. His temperature, respiration and pulse were high and he was fighting hard against sepsis.

President Hoover, who paid a visit last night to the bedside of his close friend and associate, was keeping in close touch with Walter Reed Hospital from where the discouraging reports were being relayed to his office in the White House at frequent intervals.

SEEKS TO HAVE LIQUOR CASES QUASHED TODAY

Several Motions Were Argued Before Co. Judge Leech

Attorney H. A. Brooks, representing several of the defendants in liquor cases to be tried before a jury in the County Court next week, appeared in the court this morning, armed with a long list of motions in which he sought to have proceedings halted. The chief objection was against Police Magistrate A. E. Simonson, before whom several of the complaints and search warrants were issued in the mop-up campaign of two weeks ago. The motion contends that the Police Magistrate is holding two offices, the other being that of Town Clerk of Dixon township.

In an effort to having charges of sale and possession of intoxicating liquor dismissed against Granville Miller, Brooklyn township thistle commissioner, Attorney Brooks presented a motion in which it was stated that the hay in the barn on the Miller premises where deputies from Sheriff Miller's office are said to have found a gallon of liquor, had been sold to another person and was not under the control of Miller. State's Attorney Mark C. Keller was present and entered his objections to the motions.

Raleigh Frey of this city was assessed a fine of $100 and the costs by Judge Leech in the county court this morning on an information charging sale and possession of intoxicating liquor. Frey's home on Ninth street and College avenue was one of the number raided two weeks ago. The court also ordered that Frey be paroled for a period of one year and suspended a sentence to be served at the Vandalla state work farm in the event that the parole is violated in that period. Two others were expected to appear in County Court today and enter pleas of guilty to the informations.

Pours Gasoline On Body, Lights Match

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 16—(UP)—Converting his body into a torch by pouring gasoline over it and then applying a match, Carl Motiska, 58, one of the best known mining engineers in the anthracite region, committed suicide today. His wife was probably fatally burned attempting to forestall the suicide attempt.

Motiska's act is said to have been prompted by heavy losses suffered in the recent market crash.

Mrs. Motiska, hearing her husband scream in the basement, ran to him and attempted to beat out the flames. He drove her away and fled into another room locking the door. Mrs. Motiska, her clothing aflame, rushed into the yard where neighbors found her.

All of her clothing was burned from her body and hospital attaches said she would die.

The house was badly damaged by flames, and Motiska was dead when his body was found.

Peoria Police Have No Clue To Robbers

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Every step taken by the bandit trio that yesterday held up and robbed the South Side Trust & Savings Bank of $10,000 was anticipated by the leader with a thoroughgoing leaving police without a tangible clue today.

The robbery was carried out after a false fire alarm had been sounded to distract attention.

The disappearance of sawed-off shotguns, part of the protection arrangement for another bank near the city limits and the theft of a new sedan from the show room for a local dealer, were being considered by police in their attempts toward tracing the gang.

Hammond Postmaster Is Killed By Train

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 16—(UP)—Richard McHie, Postmaster of Hammond and former publisher of the Lake County Times here, was killed late yesterday when he was struck by a Monon passenger train on a side walk crossing in Hammond.

His knowledge of train schedules was probably an indirect cause of the accident, as the passenger train had been delayed and it is believed McHie felt too certain there were no trains at that time.

McHie lived in Hammond 25 years and had served as its Postmaster for the last five.

Eagle, Hunted Ten Years, Finally Shot

Chandlerville, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—An eagle, which hunters have tried to kill for 10 years, finally met his Waterloo.

The eagle, having a wing spread of eight feet, was killed by Finis Ernest St. Louis. He shot it from a tree top.

The bird was charged with killing hundreds of young lambs and other "meat" animals.

ATTEND MEETING FARM LOAN ASSN. OF PEORIA DIST.

Lee County Men Return From Interesting Convention

A. T. Tourtellott of this city and L. S. Griffith of Amboy, representing the Lee County National Farm Loan association, Oliver L. Gehant and W. A. Halmaier of West Brooklyn of the Farmer's National Farm Loan association of Lee county, Fred C. Gross of Franklin Grove, appraiser for the northern Illinois district, have returned home from a meeting of officers and secretaries of the Peoria group of National Farm Loan association representatives at the Federal Land Bank at St. Louis. The meeting was held at the Jefferson hotel in Peoria Thursday and Friday of this week.

The total attendance at the meeting this year exceeded last year's registration, a total of 90 being registered this year. L. S. Griffith of Amboy was elected chairman last year and presided over the two days sessions.

Federal farm loans in Lee county amount to $2,977,400 and exceed the total volume of any other county in the Peoria group. This does not mean that Lee county has a heavier indebtedness on farm lands, but that the total of federal loans exceeds other counties.

Few Foreclosures.
One of the most interesting talks of the series of meetings was given by John L. Hughes, newly elected director to the Federal Land Bank from Arkansas. His address was replete with stories and valuable suggestions for the bettering of farm conditions.

The Federal Land Bank is in excellent condition, according to the reports of those who were in attendance at the meeting from Lee county. A larger surplus has been accumulated this year than during 1928. Farms foreclosed on have been sold to a greater extent than during last year. There is probably no mortgage company that has shown as low a foreclosure percentage as the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis with less than 2.85 per cent total loans foreclosed on during its 12 years history.

Nose Dive In Plane Improved Hearing

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Improved hearing was claimed by Mrs. William Dunston today following an airplane experiment in which she was taken through a nose dive of 7200 feet here yesterday.

Mrs. Dunston had complained of deafness and having heard that flying sometimes helped to restore hearing she applied to Craig Isbell, local aviator to test the theory.

Craig spent 45 minutes climbing to a height of 8200 feet and then turned the plane into a nose dive. It took less than three minutes to come within 1000 feet of the ground. With the ears of the pilot and passenger ringing from the sudden descent, the plane was kept at this lower altitude for several minutes, so that they could accustom themselves to the change before landing.

Kerosene Explosion Kills Greenup Woman

Greenup, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Mrs. P. H. Conzel, wife of the local postmaster, was fatally burned when the kerosene can she was pouring fluid from to kindle a fire exploded at her home here yesterday. Her husband was painfully burned about the hands and face when he fought the flames in an effort to save his wife. The home was damaged from the result.

MORRIS KENNEDY MILL GUTTED BY MORNING BLAZE

Only Walls Remain Of Plant: Damage Will Total $40,000

The Morris Kennedy cereal mill at Rochelle was completely gutted by flames which apparently originated on the first floor of the big mill on First avenue and Main street, opposite the Burlington depot this morning, entailing a loss estimated at $40,000 which is but partially covered by insurance. Workmen who entered the building at 7 o'clock this morning, found the rooms on the first floor filled with a dense smoke and immediately turned in a fire alarm.

The Rochelle fire department arrived at once, but the flames had burst through in the first floor and rapidly ate upward between the walls to the top floor of the structure. For three hours, the fire department played streams of water in the building before the flames were under control. All of the contents of the building including machinery, grain and cereals packed and ready for packing was a total loss. At noon all that remained of the big cereal mill, were the walls inside of which was a mass of molten and twisted metal, all that remained of the machinery equipment.

The mill was one of two operated by Mr. Kennedy, the second being the Depot avenue plant in this city.

TRUCK DRIVER, THOUGHT SLAIN, TURNS UP TODAY

Police Are Skeptical Of Kidnaping Tale He Tells Today

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Claud Jennings, Mt. Vernon, whose blood-stained cap and bullet riddled truck, found yesterday on route 14 about five mile west of Benton led police to believe that he had been murdered, returned to Mt. Vernon this morning and told police an incoherent story about being kidnapped.

Jennings told police that three men in a sedan forced his truck off the road yesterday as he was returning to Mt. Vernon from Duquoin. He said that the men bundled him into their automobile and took him to Vandalla, Ill., where they threw him out. He could not account for the note left on the seat of his truck which expressed regret as having shot the wrong man.

In accounting for the blood found on the floor and seat of the truck, Jennings said he suffered a nosebleed when he fell in trying to escape from the kidnappers.

Police here are skeptical of Jennings story and are conducting an investigation.

Mrs. Louis Faulhaber Died This Morning

Mrs. Louis Faulhaber for many years a respected resident of Dixon, passed away very suddenly at her home, 329 West Chamberlain street this morning at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Sam Clear who had been assisting in the care of Mrs. Faulhaber, who has been in failing health for some time, was present when the end came. The remains were removed to the Jones funeral home where Coroner P. M. Banker of Franklin Grove will conduct an inquest this afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the body will be taken home Sunday.

Mrs. Faulhaber is survived by two daughters and one son as follows: Mrs. John Vile of this city, Mrs. A. C. Reese of Madison, Wis., and John of Chicago. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. A. G. Suchting pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church from the late home Monday afternoon at 2:30, interment being made in Oakwood.

Faulty Device Is Blamed For Crash

Lincoln, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—A probably faulty device was blamed today for the crash here yesterday of a test airplane, being flown by Captain Ernest J. Capen, and in which Capen was burned to death.

The machine was one which Capen had tested on several occasions. He had reached a height of 500 feet when the plane tilted sharply and went into a nose dive and fell on the Chicago & Alton Railroad right of way. It burst into flames and freemen who arrived on the scene shortly after found only the charred remains of the machine and Capen's body.

Capen was president of the Capen Aircraft Corporation here. During the World War he was a flying instructor at Kelly Field and prior to that had been a stunt flyer at fairs and exhibitions. The plane which he was flying had been approved by the United States Department of Commerce.

Judge Can't See Kiss Being Worth $10,000, He States

St. Louis, Nov. 16—(UP)—Circuit Judge A. Falkenhainer does not believe a kiss is worth $10,000—even if the woman implicated is embarrassed.

Mrs. Catherine Masterson, 19, sued Albert Withers, 36, because he allegedly made love to her, forced her to lose a job and subjected her to embarrassment. Withers denied the charges and the judge the damages.

BANKERS THINK STOCK MARKET AGAIN NORMAL

No More Difficulties are Expected on Exchange By Financiers

New York, Nov. 16—(AP)—The stock market was closed today, ending its trading week under conditions described as normal by Thomas W. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan & Company.

As spokesman for the group of bankers who organized to help stabilize the market at the beginning of the break three weeks ago, he said after an informal meeting in the Morgan offices yesterday that the bankers considered the market had been normal during the last few days.

The comment was made after the close of the second trading session marked by advancing prices in a recovery from the slump which reached its climax last Wednesday when hundreds of issues hit new lows for the year.

The bankers had found no weak situation nor had any serious difficulties been revealed, Mr. Lamont said.

He said he had been informed that several substantial bids had been placed at approximately Wednesday night's closing prices, including one for United States Steel at 150. These bids, like that for 1,000,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, placed Wednesday had the effect of checking declines in stocks for which they were made at the price level at which the bid was placed.

The bid for 200,000 shares of United States Steel at 150, which would require $30,000,000 to fill, was placed with Walter G. Pollak of the brokerage firm of Auerbach, Pollak & Richardson. The order was not filled yesterday as the price fluctuated between 161½ and 167½, closing at 164½ for a net gain of 4½ points.

The upturn of the market which began Thursday continued yesterday, but at a more moderate rate. Leading issues made net gains of 1 to 15 points.

Bank Examiners Ask For Patrons' Books

State bank examiners who have been checking the books and accounts at the Dixon Trust & Savings Bank this afternoon gave out the following statement to depositors of the institution:

"To facilitate the examination of the Dixon Trust & Savings Bank, depositors are requested to present Monday morning, Nov. 18 at 9 A. M., pass books on savings and Christmas savings, deposits and receive statements of checking accounts for the purpose of verification."

Oscar Nelson, State Auditor.

The examiners had nothing further to state and were still busily engaged in their work of examining the bank records.

Financial Troubles Cause Drowning Hoax

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Financial difficulties were believed to day to be responsible for a drowning hoax which John E. Donovan, local contractor, perpetrated on relatives and friends while on a fishing trip on the Illinois river near Beardstown, Sept. 6.

Donovan was reported yesterday by his wife to be a tubercular patient at a Montreal, Quebec, hospital. A letter which she received from him sometime after his disappearance stated he had disappeared because "he was on the wrong track and I took the method I did to rectify it."

Donovan vanished on the fishing trip which he had taken with his wife and some friends. He had ventured forth in a boat on the morning of Sept. 6 and had gone but a short distance when a splash and two cries for "help" were heard.

His capized boat was found and the river was searched for several days but no trace of him was found.

First intimation that he was alive came yesterday when his wife appeared at the Mason county Circuit Clerk's office and recorded a deed whereby Donovan transferred all his property here heavily mortgaged to Mrs. George E. Busler, his mother-in-law. The deed was dated Montreal, Nov. 1.

His capized boat was found and the river was searched for several days but no trace of him was found.

JOLIET WARDEN IS WARNED OF JAIL BREAK PLOT

Guards At State Prison Renew Vigilance To Quell Attempt

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 16—(AP)—Prison guards at the new Stateville penitentiary renewed their vigilance today upon receipt of warning from a paroled convict that a plot was under way to dynamite the walls. Warden Henry C. Hill denied that any extra precautions had been taken and said the warning had been heard six weeks ago, but Brig. Gen. John V. Clinch, National Guard commander who suppressed a mutiny at the old prison here a decade ago, said a former convict came to him yesterday with word of the conspiracy.

Gen. Clinch stated that his informant had said outside accomplices of a band of dangerous convicts planned to smuggle arms and dynamite into the prison by throwing them over the wall and in other ways.

The penitentiary has experienced unrest for several months since the state Supreme Court decided that those convicted of robbery under a former 10-year-to-life law must serve at least 10 years before being eligible for parole. Prior to that decision such convicts were considered eligible to parole at the end of six years and three months.

FOIL COLORADO PLOT

Canon City, Colo., Nov. 16—(AP)—Discovery of an elaborate plot to effect a wholesale delivery of prisoners from the state prison here, and evidence that a guard probably aided prisoners in the October mutiny which cost 13 lives, today had led to solitary confinement of five convicts and institution of rigid precautionary measures.

The new escape plan fell just short of completion, penitentiary officials said. It was frustrated by discovery yesterday of a nearly completed tunnel leading from a cistern near the prison boiler shop to the base of a wall not far from the west gate, where two days of sanguinary fighting occurred during the riot last month.

After two days of thorough search of the penitentiary during which guards and prison officials unearthed a large number of make-shift weapons—daggers, clubs and blackjacks—the latest attempt to escape was brought to the attention of the Warden by a convict "stool pigeon" who talked with newspapermen.

Five convicts, whose names Warden P. E. Crawford refused to reveal, were placed in solitary confinement in connection with the discovery. He said others likely were implicated.

LITTLE ALARM FELT

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Little alarm was expressed by state officials here today regarding reports that convicts of the state penitentiary at Stateville had planned a mutiny there.

According to Rodney Brandon, Director of the State Department of Public Welfare, which has supervision of state prisons, he heard a somewhat similar story several weeks ago. Previous to that, however, he said, the authorities at Stateville had strengthened their forces.

This step, he said, was taken following revolts at prisons in other states.

"We had no fear of an uprising here but though it wise to take the precaution because of so much talk of prison rebellions," said Brandon.

Brandon also declared the step was taken as a part of a policy by the new Warden Henry C. Hill to tighten up loose spots.

He cited two instances where precautions had been taken.

One concerned the arsenal within the prison and the other about an unlocked gate leading into the prison grounds.

THANKSGIVING

We all know the feel of the Thanksgiving season. Our blood is tingling with the first fall frosts, and our appetite is responding to its accelerated pace in a way that reminds us of the Thanksgiving of our childhood. And the child part in all of us that always survives the years is secretly wondering just what there will be for Thanksgiving dinner. That remains a dark mystery in most well-regulated households, except for certain rumors that will leak out, but we're going to lift the curtain to reveal what we think will make a most toothsome Thanksgiving dinner.

Of course there must be turkey in it. That has been traditional ever since the Pilgrim fathers carried their arquebuses to church on Thanksgiving morning, and glanced uneasily over their shoulders for a whizzing arrow shot by some lurking Indian. And there must also be cranberry sauce, and pumpkin and cider.

But our mouth is beginning to water. We can't wait any longer. So here's the menu, with recipes calculated for eight people. You can multiply or divide these ingredients to suit your needs.

Spiced Cocktail
Celery Olives Pickles
Consommé with Egg Slices
Oyster Stuffing
Roast Turkey Cranberry Sauce

Mashed Potatoes Creamed Onions
Mashed Turnips
Gingerbread and Banana Shortcake
Pumpkin and Raisin Tarts
Wassail Bowl

The Recipes

Spiced Cocktail: Drain one 8-ounce can of breakfast prunes, and arrange the tiny prunes in centers of cocktail glasses. To the prunes, syrup add two tablespoons of sugar, two tablespoons of lemon juice, one-half cup of water and an inch stick of cinnamon, and boil five minutes. Cool, and remove cinnamon. Cut out the sections of four California oranges, being careful to leave no trace of white fibre, and arrange flower-fashion around the prunes. Pour over the syrup, garnish with little yellow grapes, and chill.

Consommé with Egg Slices: Cook Italian paste in letter form in two cans of consommé and two cups of water until tender. Season rather highly with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Pour in the soup, and garnish each cup with a thin slice of hard-cooked egg. Excellent cranberry sauce can be bought in cans, and its purchase in that form saves a lot of labor in the kitchen.

Novel Desserts

Gingerbread and Banana Shortcake: Cream one-fourth cup of butter and one-fourth cup of add one well-beaten egg, and beat well. Add one-half teaspoon soda to one-half cup of molasses, and then add this to the first mixture. Sift one and one-half cups of pastry flour, two teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon of salt. Mix to a paste one teaspoon of ginger, two teaspoons of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of allspice, one-fourth cup of boiling water and one-fourth cup of evaporated milk, and let stand five minutes. Then add to the original mixture alternately with the dry ingredients. Bake in a sheet in a moderate (350°) oven for thirty to thirty-five minutes. Cool slightly, then cut into new moons, using a cookie cutter of that shape, quite a large one. Split and arrange two sliced bananas between layers, and garnish the whole liberally with sweetened whipped cream.

Pumpkin and Raisin Tarts: Mix together one cup of canned pumpkin, one-half cup of brown sugar, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of ginger, and one teaspoon of cinnamon. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one cup of evaporated milk. Add one-half cup of seeded raisins and fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into small pastry-lined tart shells and bake, having oven hot at first, then moderate. This recipe makes eighteen to twenty small tarts.

Britisher's Death Recalls Superstition

London, Nov. 16—(UP)—Capt. Hon. Richard Bethell, 46, heir of Lord Westbury, died suddenly in his sleep today.

His death recalled the story that ill-fortune would follow those who disturbed the tombs of the Pharaohs. Bethell was a member of Howard Carter's party which opened the famous tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen.

Lord Carnarvon's death, shortly after entering the Tut-Ankh-Amen tombs, aroused wide comment on the superstition surrounding the Pharaohs' tombs.
Bethell had named his 12-year-old daughter Nefertari, the name of Tut-Ankh-Amen's queen.

REORGANIZATION OF STATE DEPT. IS UNDER WAY

Sec. Stimson Hopes To Strengthen Diplomatic Service

By C. P. WILLIAMSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Washington, Nov. 16—(AP)—A reorganization of the State Department, which may involve a revision of the duties of some of the Department's highest officials, is expected to be taken up actively in the near future by Secretary Stimson.

In addition to his plans for an expansion of the American foreign service, if the required funds are appropriated by Congress, the Secretary is now considering changes which will affect the permanent personnel directing the work of the diplomatic service from the department.

The recent appointment of Joseph P. Cotton, prominent New York lawyer and personal friend of the Secretary, to succeed J. Reuben Clark, Jr., as Undersecretary of State, was the first step in Stimson's reorganization plans.

The Secretary hopes to fill the Assistant Secretaryship which will be vacated when Nelson T. Johnson, the present incumbent, goes to China as Minister, by another appointee outside the ranks of the foreign service.

The duties of this office are to be changed from those solely concerning far eastern affairs to a broader administrative scope, possibly including departmental and foreign service personnel. The direction of the far eastern work in the department will be left solely in the hands of Stanley K. Hornbeck, Chief of the Far Eastern Division.

Grandson Of Founder Of Larkin Co. Suicide

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16—(AP)—Because he was unable to raise $5000 demanded by a gang which threatened him with death yesterday if he failed to pay, according to police, Hubbard W. Larkin, 38, of Eden, N. Y., grandson of the late John D. Larkin, founder of the Larkin Company here, shot himself to death today at a Seneca Street fire station, where he had spent the night.

Young Larkin reported to police detective bureau Thursday that Tuesday night five men in an automobile drove to his home in Eden to collect the $5000. They were armed with sawed-off shotguns and revolvers, he said.

They demanded the money, he told police, because he "had been running around with the wife of one of the men." They threatened to "take him for a ride," if he did not pay, and he said he promised the money on Wednesday, but was unable to get it without appealing to his family in California.

Larkin had agreed to go before the District Attorney this morning in connection with the arrest of Katherine E. Palmer and Gordon Lewis, both of Buffalo, who were held by police for questioning.

A large attendance of members and one guest, Mrs. L. N. Deutsch, were present, and this being an all day meeting, a delicious picnic dinner was enjoyed during the noon hour.

In the afternoon some minor matters of business were disposed of, followed by a very interesting talk given by Mrs. Chas. Hey. This was a description of a trip taken to southern Texas recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Hey were members of a personally conducted touring party, and the handwork of man and the beauties of nature were very entertainingly described by the speaker. All were pleased to learn that the Hey's would remain with us for at least one more season.

The following poem written by Mr. Hey is descriptive of members of their party and the delightful companionship enjoyed.

In the late afternoon, adjournment was taken, to meet again Dec. 12 with Mrs. Geo. Schmucker. The poem:

OUR PARTY

A trip to the Rio Grande
From Dixon and from Polo
We went upon a jaunt
Down to the sunny Rio Grande
And found just what we want.

We didn't think it possible
That we should ever enjoy
Another place that seems to be
As good as Illinois.

So now we're going to try it out
And we'll all take a stand
And see if Sheridan had lied
About the Rio Grande.

For the Dixon and the Polo folks
I'll write this little pun
To help you to remember
Some of the jokes and fun.

There's one with us we'd give our votes
For he knows how to speak
But he's so full of anecdotes
We're afraid he'll spring a Leake.

A man and wife of whom I'd speak
But don't know what to say
They always have some fruit to eat
And do not live on Hay.

We found a place called lovers Lane
There's one in every town
It is a place for Oliver
To show us men around.

Among the trees that here abound
Dates, peaches and pears you'll find
Occasionally a lemon
But of the Stahler kind.

For the Polo and the Dixon Crowd
There sure was lots of fun
For every where to see the sights
They kept us on the run.

So now to each we'll say adieu.
We had a splendid time
And hope we all shall meet again
Down in the southern clime.

—Charles Hey.

FASHION HINTS—

VELVET SASH—A dainty little pink chiffon frock from Paris has three shades of pink making a smashing bow in the back, with the three ends swinging to ankle length or the floor.

MUFF'S VOGUE—New winter ensembles make much of the muff. Often the center of these little fancies is of fur like the coat's trim, while circular ruffles of the costume's material edge them.

SIX-INCH LINE—Hemlines must be six inches below the knees for fashionables, according to Paris dictates. This is true, especially, of formal things, most of which are at least that long at their shortest points.

PATOU COAT—A new, sumptuous black velvet coat from Jean Patou has a fitted silhouette, with a full skirt portion edged with fur for the front and sides while the back width, of the velvet, is cut circular and dipping until it is so long right in the back that it sweeps the floor.

FABRIC TURBANS—The fabric

turban has gone over the top of many a smart costume this autumn. It presses into service everything from silk lace to tweed. It may be a little cap, a beret, a modified toque, or a manipulated Oriental headgear. However, a woman should be sure that her features are more or less regular and good before she takes to turbans.

STUNNING FROCK—White crepe, brocaded in gold circles, makes the blouse of a stunning frock, with black crepe, brocaded in larger circles fashioning the wrap-around skirt. A band of bright, hard green, embroidered in black circles makes the belt and the top of the long black cuffs of the white waist.

SHORT COATS—The short evening coat with elaborate collar and sleeves is one of the favorites this winter. If coats are long, they are apt to follow the princess lines of evening gowns.

EFFECTIVE SLEEVE—A rich purple-blue flat crepe afternoon frock has butterfly sleeves that slope into deep cuffs the outside panels of which are rich gold and purple-blue brocade. The normal waistline belt fastens with a stunning enameled pin in the same rich tones as the brocade.

BERTHA GOWN—A white nylon gown, with a flaring skirt edged in Alencon lace, has the cutest little lace bertha of Alencon that rounds the neck modestly and hangs over the upper arm like little cap sleeves.

SUNDAY EVENING—One of autumn's contributions is the "Sunday evening frock." This is a semi-formal dress, often of black flat crepe, velvet or lace, made with sweeping lines, rather picturesque but always with long sleeves.

Talent For Dixon Civic Music Concerts

As much interest in centered at the present time in the concerts to be given this winter by the Dixon Civic Music Association many will like to know the dates of the several entertainments. On tomorrow, Sunday, probably the greatest attraction of the season will be given in the concert by the Boston Women's Orchestra, at the Dixon Theater which will be conducted by Ethel Legniska, leader, composer, pianist. The concert by the way, is to start at 1:15 o'clock, and will, no doubt, prove one of the musical treats for this section of Illinois. On Monday evening the Boston Symphony appears in Elgin under the auspices of the Elgin Civic Music Association.

Of Legniska the Washington Evening Star says:

"She is even more dramatic as a conductor than as a pianist yet there is reason for every gesture and instant response from her orchestra. Here is not sheer theatricalism; it is purposeful conducting and highly effective."

The Boston Women's Symphony Orchestra is the first orchestra in this country, the complete personnel of which, including conductor, is entirely composed of women. This organization is entering the fourth season of its consistently growing success.

In the season 1928-29 the tour of Legniska and the Boston Women's Symphony included, in addition to the Boston Concerts, fifty-two appearances on tour. The events were a succession of triumphs.

The season 1929-30 will be of ten weeks duration including important appearances in the following states: Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, North and South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia, Georgia, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

Two More Concerts

On Feb. 7th the International Singers will appear in Dixon and on April 17th, Moissaye Bogushevski, pianist and Ilza Niemack, violinist, will be the attraction. Dixon is to be congratulated on the choice selection of talent for the program for the Civic Concerts.

Concert Sunday at 1:15 at the Dixon Theater, the program for which appeared in Thursday evening's paper.

THREEPIECE TAILLEUR CONTINUES FOR WINTER

Paris (AP)—Tailored suits, considered spring perennial, are to have an all-winter vogue in conjunction with fur coats.

Many well dressed Parisian women prefer the tailored suit to one-piece dresses under their street coats of fur. In many instances the fur is worn as a lining to a coat made of the same material as the suit.

Small flecks of white in black or dark blue; pin point dots of white and tiny arrow heads of white on dark suitings are among the smartest materials for tailors.

With the tailors are worn white satin blouses or tunic blouses of lame. The lame blouse is more often the accompaniment of broadcloth suits.

BARE-LEG FAD FAILS TO AFFECT HOSIERY MAKING

Washington (UP)—America's much discussed bare-leg fad that swept the country during the past summer months failed to affect the hosiery production industry, according to Department of Commerce figures.

Women's hosiery production in August, 1929, exceeded by more than 200,000 dozen pairs that of August, 1928, the figures show. During August 1928 the production of women's seamless and full-fashioned hose totaled 2,122,947 dozen pairs. In the

Harriet Goodwin Became Bride Of John Cleaver Today

A wedding of much interest to Dixon and Oregon relatives and friends was quietly solemnized this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the St. Luke's Episcopal church in this city, the rector, Rev. Father Richard C. Talbot, reading the impressive service in the presence of the immediate relatives of the bride and bridegroom. Miss Harriet Goodwin and John Cleaver. The ceremony was very simple, the couple being unattended. The bride who is the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Irving M. Goodwin of 314 Galena avenue, was beautifully gowned in one of the new frocks in fashion, in a shade of Royal Blue, charmingly fashioned over a foundation of silk in the same color. She wore all accessories harmonizing. Her corsage was of dainty yellow rosebuds and forget-me-nots. The bride of today may truly be quoted as one of Dixon's most beautiful girls, a lovely brunette, with exotic coloring. She is a graduate of the Dixon High School and is a registered nurse, a graduate of Mercy Hospital, Chicago, and has been most proficient in her chosen profession. Always modest and charming she possesses scores of friends who wish her happiness. Mr. Cleaver the bridegroom, is the president of the J. C. Cleaver Corporation and is highly regarded in the business world where he has been successful and by scores of friends who to those of his wife in wishing the couple every happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver will make their home in Oregon. They are leaving on a brief honeymoon.

Stolen Jewelry Is Returned To Owners

St. Louis, Nov. 16.—(UP)—Jewelry, valued at $72,000, stolen from two millionaire couples Sunday, has been returned, but under mysterious circumstances and police today sought to clear up the mystery.

Sunday while returning from a party, four bandits robbed Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Byers, Pittsburgh.

A search has been made for the bandits but yesterday W. A. Maxton, St. Louis adjuter, visited police and told them to halt the search for the jewels.

Maxton was said to have told police that W. J. Colford, a Chicago adjuter, returned the jewels, but could not explain how he obtained them.

An investigation revealed the jewels were safely in possession of the Johnsons, who declined to discuss the case with newspapermen.

A MEANS OF PROGRESS.

Now that the Wall Street collapse has passed a little distance into the background, we are beginning to hear once more the impassioned cries and angry criticisms that always follow a crash in the stock market.

We are being told, for instance, that speculation in stocks is a great evil. Legislators are talking about new laws to curb the practice. Wall Street, once again, is being made the target for all kinds of bitter attacks.

Wall Street will survive this, very likely. It has come through similar flurries before, and it will again. And, meanwhile, it might be a good thing for us to get our minds a little bit clearer on the iniquities, or otherwise, of speculation itself.

An Englishman, Ralph Hale Mottram, recently wrote "A History of Financial Speculation," tracing the development of the process from prehistoric times. His book is rather instructive. It leads one to the conclusion, not that speculation is an evil, a restraint on legitimate trade and a dissipation of a nation's energy, but that it has helped mankind immeasurably on the long advance from barbarism to civilization.

Mottram begins right at the beginning. In cave-man days there was a traffic in flint knives and arrow heads. Tribes that lived near extensive of flint made more of these implement than they themselves needed, and carried them considerable distances, to exchange them for furs, meat and grain. He dealt in articles of uncertain future value, and thereby became the first of the speculators—and, also, helped the race take its first step upward.

Mottram then proceeds to trace this sort of thing down to its present-day state. Wall Street, born of the flint-trading speculator of 3000 B. C., has an ancient and honorable lineage.

There was, for instance, ancient Greece, home of philosophy and beauty. Greece, Mottram points out, was a trading nation. It rose from barbarism to civilization because its people were, pre-eminently, speculators and traders.

"In other words," he says, "the glory that was Greece was the same glory that we pursue today, the endless effort to live a little better than our fathers."

The thing holds good all the way down the line. Today, Mottram sees as war-stricken Europe's chief hope the fact that speculation has become international and universal in character. It is providing an influence that may eventually become strong enough to counteract nationalistic rivalries and jealousies and promote that world peace that looks so desirable and so unattainable.

So, if you lost money in the stock market crash, don't take to cussing Wall Street. Its good deeds outweigh its sins.

A BOON TO AVIATION.

The "automatic pilot" which recently proved its worth in a test flight from Dayton, O., to Washington may develop into one of aviation's most important inventions.

This device holds a plane on its course and keeps it at the proper elevation without any attention from the pilot. Its possibilities for usefulness can easily be imagined. They can hardly be exaggerated.

If a pilot can go aloft and make it mechanically certain that his plane will fly along the exact course that he wishes, and stay at the exact height above the earth that he wishes, half of his worries are over. Elmer Sperry, inventor of the device, has done aviation a great service.

That comment of Senator Shortridge's in the Shearer investigation to the effect that "a capable newspaper men do not make as much as $25,000 a year" is interesting. There still are grim humorists in Congress.

A high mountain in Idaho has been named after Senator Borah. We know a couple of states with nice deep valleys that could be named after some other congressmen, without stretching the imagination, either.

Florida surely would have been disappointed if that storm hadn't come after all the publicity it received.

Baby carriages in Sweden must carry headlights by night. Swedes must be hard of hearing.

Harvard has 55,000 alumni and Yale has 35,000. Maybe that's why Yale seems to be getting along so nicely.

Judging by recent stock market activities, the lambs had better stick to their gambling and let gambling alone.

A woman magazine writer says marriage is the finest profession. We have noticed, however, that many people who follow it retire while still on the job.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The big man held the bark up high and said, "Now you can see that I am pretty strong. I pulled this loose with just one sudden jerk. To look at you I'd frankly say 'I would take you Tynimies all day to do that trick and then I know that it would be real work.'"

"You bet it would," one Tiny cried. "That's something we have never tried. But, since you have the bark off, won't it kill that great big tree? I'd hate to see it die and fall. It is so wonderful and tall. If that's what's going to happen, I'm as sorry as can be."

"Now don't you worry," said the man. "I know a way in which I can patch up the open tree trunk so 'twill live for years and years. I'll fill the place in with cement and you won't even see a dent. You all can watch me at the job and that will halt your fears."

He ran back to his hut and got bags of cement. Oh, quite a lot!

And then he turned and grabbed his bark and said, "Now all you Tynimies hark. I'm going to make a big sled from this bark. Please all be still. Don't ask me questions till I'm through. I'll then explain it all to you. You're going to ride upon this sled and get a brand new thrill. The sled was very shortly done. The big man shouted, 'Now for fun! Hop on this thing, you Tynimies. Now comes a treat that's rare.' The Tynimies hopped aboard and then the man picked up the sled again. With one big swoop he neatly sent it sailing through the air."

(The sled takes the Tynimies on a peculiar trip in the next story.) (Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)

Poorly Addressed

Mail Proves Costly

Washington (AP)—The Postoffice Department lost approximately $5,000,000 last year on carelessly addressed mail, a large part being the direct result of business firms having an exaggerated idea of their prominence.

Many firms doing a large advertising business have labored under the impression that not having a street address indicated great importance in the hometown and impressed customers with the fact that "even in New York and Chicago we are so well known the postman needs no help in finding us."

The result has been millions of letters delayed for "indirectory service."

Say Mooney Innocent in 'Frisco Bomb
Outrage

Will their story free Tom Mooney, who has served 13 years of a life sentence for the San Francisco bomb outrage on Preparedness Day in 1916? Above is Mrs. Dora Monroe (shown with her husband, George) living on a farm near Bellaire, O., who says that her brother, Louis Smith (inset), confessed to her just before his death in the bomb. At the right is Frank O. Stevens, inmate of the Soldiers' Home in Dayton, O., who told of Smith's alleged confession in a letter to Senator Thos. D. Schall, of Minnesota, thus opening the present investigation.

and no cadet shall have a horse, dog, wife or mustache," say the rules of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. And so, since the photo above shows Mr. and Mrs. Paul Capron, Jr., Capron is no longer a cadet. His runaway marriage with pretty Marguerite Gillespie, daughter of an instructor, constituted an "automatic resignation" from his class. Their courtship had been carried on despite the regulations of West Point, and it was only during a football game that they were able to slip away to be married. "But we're awfully happy now," said Mrs. Capron when the photographer found them here at the fireside of the groom's home in West Newbury, Mass.

SPORT SLANTS

There is no longer need be any public concern over the old age of the venerable Mr. George Herman Ruth. Mr. Ruth, in fact, has become a solid citizen, with an investment trust of $150,000, yielding a modest $12,000 annually, all fixed up and ready for him whenever he ceases to draw his $70,000 or more from the vaults of Colonel Jacob Ruppert and the Yankees.

All the money derived from the "by-products" of Ruth's fame, from the underwear and candy endorsements, from the athletic equipment and shaving cream, goes into the trust fund handled by Christy Walsh, Ruth's business adviser and manager.

There is not much likelihood that Ruth will have any cut in salary when he signs a new contract for 1930 or for another term of years. There was no loss to the Yankees in the three-year agreement, calling for a total of $210,000, that Ruth signed in Colonel Ruppert's brewery office in February, 1927, to become the highest paid figure in the game, topping even Commissioner Landis, who gets $65,000.

The Yankees won two world championships and Ruth set a new home run record of 60 following the signing of this contract. In spite of illness, the Babe came back to lead all the circuit clouters for 1929. The Babe, although no doubt slowing up, has lost little if any of his batting eye. His value to the Yankees is not alone in his hitting, for he has always been a stimulating influence to the other players. Whether or not Ruth's all-around ability and baseball smartness is some day capitalized by making him manager of the Yankees, it is certain he holds a fixed and vital place in the club's scheme of things.

For these reasons, as well as Ruth's record for the past three years at the highest salary in baseball history, Colonel Ruppert may readily offer to renew the Babe's contract for another three-year term at $70,000 or a one-year agreement at an even higher figure, with the situation at the close of 1930 to determine the next step.

Should Bob Shawkey fail to measure up to the high expectations held out for him as pilot next year it would be the logical move to install Ruth at the helm.

From the way its teams have been developing, the Southwestern Conference, composed chiefly of Texas colleges, will take rank with any group before many seasons have elapsed, if in fact they are not up to a high level already. A few of the tests to be made during the next year or two will help decide the matter.

Southern Methodist gave Army a slashing battle a year ago and tied Nebraska this year. The Mustangs take on Navy and Notre Dame in 1930 and will have an experienced team for these inter-sectional affairs, since they lost only one regular, Captain Choc Sanders at guard.

The University of Texas, conference champions in 1928, have arranged to play Harvard at Cambridge in October, 1931. There, the memory still is somewhat vivid of the manner in which that celebrated Texan, Bo McMillan, ran wild against the Crimson while leading the Praying Colonels of Centre College.

Dempsey Gets First Profits From Show
Chicago, Nov. 16—(UP)—Continuing his comeback efforts, Buddy Taylor, the Terre Haute terror, won a 10 round decision from Santiago Zorilla, San Blas Indian, here last night.

Taylor, believing he should have been recognized as the bantamweight champion when he was in his prime three or four years ago, has taken on weight and is after the 126 pound crown.

His left hooks and right crosses were too much for Zorilla.

The show was Jack Dempsey's third promotional affair here and his first money maker. Jack took in something like $50,000 and expected to make better than $5,000.

In the semi-windup, My Sullivan, St. Paul, lost to Vince Dundee, Baltimore, a brother of Joe, who once held the welterweight title. Vince hopes to bring the 147 pound title back into the family.

Rochelle Comes For Game Here Tomorrow

Strong Elevens in Running For Rissman Trophy

Here is Captain Nate Barragar of the University of Southern California football team holding the highly-prized Rissman trophy, awarded annually to the best football team in the country. The Trojans were looked upon as a possible double winner until the California Bears humbled them 15 to 7 in a recent game. Teams having excellent chances to win the coveted trophy this fall are Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Tulane, Tennessee and California.

and the Dixonsites expect to annex another victory to add to their list tomorrow.

Rosenbloom Easily Defeated Braddock

New York, Nov. 16—(UP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, eccentric New Yorker was in sight of the light heavyweight championship today.

He decisively defeated James J. Braddock of Jersey City last night in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden, winning every round except the first, which was even.

Braddock, weighing 182, was never able to lay a hard punch on the clowning Rosenbloom, 173, who sometimes slapped Jimmy in the face as many as five times without return.

Canadian Surprises Lomski: Wins Fight

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 16—(UP)—Charlie Belanger, Canada, substituting on two days notice for George Courtney of Oklahoma, won a surprise victory over Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., light heavyweight, here last night.

The fight went 10 rounds before 13,000 spectators, and was considered one of a series designed to select a new light heavyweight champion. Belanger won by hard punching, driving in many hard blows during the final rounds to erase a lead that Lomski had piled up early in the fight.

Suspended Students Will Lead Cheering

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 16—(UP)—The six Drake University cheer leaders suspended for painting Iowa State college buildings at Ames were given permission to lead cheering at the Drake-Ames football game today by the Drake Faculty Council.

Suspension from classes still stands however, the council announced after a long executive session yesterday. No action had been taken in connection with the eging of Dean of Men Raymond Davies' home and the hanging of his effigy.

Milliken University Team In Rail Wreck

Indianapolis, Nov. 16—(UP)—A James Milliken football team crippled by injuries to four men in a railroad wreck yesterday, was not daunted by the mishap as it took the field here today against Butler University.

Four of the five injured players were not to be in the starting lineup, although all bruises were of minor consequence. Those out from injuries are Collins, center; Shelby, guard; Black, halfback, and Davis, fullback.

Centre College Is Favored To Capture

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 16—(AP)—Before three generations of athletes and a number of dignitaries, teams representing Centre and Transylvania colleges, among the oldest institutions in the west, meet here this afternoon to celebrate a football golden anniversary and incidentally battle for honors in their ancient rivalry.

The game which teams representing the two institutions played in 1879 introduced the sport to the west and south.

Transylvania, is recorded, won that 1879 affray, but Centre was favored today.

Floyd Newkirk of Norris City, Ill., Captain-elect of next spring's baseball team, has been elected captain of this year's basketball team. He also is president of the Junior class.

Newkirk was selected last spring as the best pitcher in the Little 19 conference. He allowed an average of slightly more than two hits each of

Neighbors In Ill. Counties Win Corn Meet

Walter Olson, First; Harold Holmes Next; In Husking Meet

Platte City, Mo., Nov. 16—(AP)—All honor to the rural Swedish community of Rio and Woodhull, Ill. It breeds muscled men and real farmers and the proof lies for all the world to see in two neighbor farm boys, who walked away yesterday with all honors of the national corn husking championship.

Fighting down interminable rows of matted ten-foot corn, with heavy mud underfoot these representatives of a single community bested the champions of six other corn belt states and when a cannon boomed the signal to halt the national champion, Walter Olson, was but a scant half bushel ahead of his neighbor, Harold Holmes.

Not even the marathon runner can know the heart-breaking, muscle-blinding toil which goes into an 80-minute corn shucking contest and 5,000 spectators gritted their teeth and swayed in sympathy as these two friends, members of the same Lutheran church, wrenched apart the tangled rows of corn and beat a steady rat-tat-tat on the bang boards.

It was Olson's second national—or world—championship. Last year he shucked 25.6 bushels in Benton county, Ill., to take first honors. Yesterday he picked only 25.27 bushels in the hour and 20 minutes.

Clyde Tague from Guthrie County, Iowa, won third place with 23.88 bushels. Henry Sorenson a Nebraskan, was fourth with 22.09 bushels. Others finished in the following order:

Charles Etter, Indiana, 22.01.
Charles Bockes, Iowa, 21.62.
W. J. Lutz, Kansas, 21.42.
C. Maley, Minnesota, 21.2.
Henry Westergren, Nebraska, 20.99.
R. Hanson, Minnesota, 20.74.
Ira Critt, Kansas, 20.57.
L. Roberts, Missouri, 19.87.

Twenty-eight radio stations broadcast a running account of the contest, with Dave Chandler of Chicago, himself formerly a competitor in the national meets, at the microphone.

OLSON'S SON ILL

Rio, Ill., Nov. 16—(UP)—Neighbors who came today to congratulate Walter Olson as the nation's champion corn husker tiptoed away after voicing sympathy for a father whose son was gravely ill.

For a moment only yesterday, the smiling, lanky farmer tasted the zest of his fame, as thousands of spectators cheered and photographers and reporters crowded around him on the Paul Rens farm near Platte City, Mo., where he had won the national corn husking contest.

The broad, bashful grin of satisfaction at the 25.27 bushels he had husked to win over twelve opponents left his face as he read a telegram that had been handed him immediately after his victory was announced. His son, Charles, 3, was seriously ill.

Olson and his wife forgot the $100 prize money awaiting Olson at the judges' stand. Hurrying to their automobile, they started on the long drive to Rio in western Illinois. Early today they got home and went to the bed where Charles lay, his face white against the pillow.

And who is this famous swimmer? Well, he's famous, all right, but more so as an Irish tenor—and how you've guessed it, probably. Final Date Gov't. Bonus Draws Near

Kansas City, Kan.—National headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the U. S. sends out a reminder that expiration of time for filing world war adjusted compensation applications, available to all world war veterans, has been set for Jan. 1, 1930.

With the possibility that congress will refuse further extensions of time after this date, every V. F. W. post throughout the country has been asked to canvass its membership and world war veterans in general in this regard, advising them of the benefits that await application.

More than a 1,000,000 world war veterans have failed to apply for their adjusted compensation certificates according to government records as of June 30, 1929. Applications totalling more than 3,500,000 have been received and approved by the government.

The expiration date for filing application has been extended twice in the past, as a result of efforts of the national legislative committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. and other service organizations but another extension beyond Jan. 1, 1930, may prove unavailable.

The value of the average certificate outstanding is estimated at $1000 and provides the veteran with a twenty-year paid up endowment insurance policy. At the end of twenty years the veteran collects the face sum of his certificate or in the event of his death, the full amount of the policy goes to his beneficiary.

Like the ordinary insurance policy, these government certificates have an increasing loan value as the date of maturity draws closer.

Veterans who have delayed application thus far are being urged to act quickly or run the risk of being deprived of this government benefit after Jan. 1.

Found Weapons In Colorado Prison

Canon City, Colo.—(AP)—An imposing array of improvised weapons, apparently manufactured by convicts at the state penitentiary here against the time when an organized prison break would be possible, has been uncovered by guards working under the direction of Warden Francis E. Crawford.

Daggers, metal blackjacks, pieces of pipe and other weapons, weighing in the aggregate more than 300 pounds, were removed from hiding places in the penitentiary by guards, and last night Warden Crawford announced the search would be continued until every possibility of finding other weapons had been exhausted.

Mash Found On Farm May Have Been Food

St. Louis—(UP)—Mash, found in the home of a farmer, might have been used for cow feed, United States Judge A. K. Gardner, South Dakota, stated in reversing a case against the farmer on prohibition charges.

John L. Perkins, the farmer, who was not at home when dry agents found 2,000 gallons of the mash on his property, said the raid was illegal because he was not there.

When the farmer joins the Farm Bureau he joins the construction gang and not the wrecking crew.

Speaking of wrecking crews, isn't it strange that after electing an administration at Washington by the biggest majority in history, the people will let a wrecking crew of radical senators throw monkey wrenches in the machinery all the time to keep the administration from keeping the pledges which secured it the election?

"Mother," asked the little girl, "is it true that all fairy stories begin with 'Once upon a time'?"

"No, dear. Some fairy stories begin with 'I'm going to attend a lodge meeting tonight'."

'YOUNG TURKS' TO FORCE SENATE TO LONGER SESSION

Death-Defying Senators Continue Pounding Away At Tariff

By PAUL H. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 16—(UP)—All adjournment plans were abandoned today as the Senate, leaderless and tired, entered its third continuous day of 11-hour sessions on the agricultural rate section of the tariff bill.

Notice was served by a new band of Republicans known as "The Young Guard" that the long and harrowing sessions would be continued under pressure as long as possible to accelerate passage of the legislation.

Young and fresh, all of them serving their first term in the Senate, the twelve members of this group have taken over the majority party leadership, as far as possible. They negotiate with the Independent Republicans and confer with the Democrats.

Called "Young Turks" The regular Republican leaders are awaiting developments to see how "The Young Turks," as they call the freshmen leaders, succeed with their plans.

As far as forcing continuance of the long sessions, the new leadership has enjoyed complete success, although the Senate physician, Sen. Copeland, Dem., N. Y., has warned the older statesmen they are traveling a death pace.

In seeking the long sessions, the youngsters have had the assistance of the coalitionists who repeatedly voted against adjournment.

Their second move has not succeeded. The acting leader of the group, Senator Vandenberg, Rep., Mich., sought an agreement with the coalitionists whereby his group would vote for whatever agricultural tariff rates were desired by the farm bloc provided the coalitionists would agree to keep industrial rates as high as the present law.

Independents Control The coalition leaders, Senators Norris, Rep., Neb., and Borah, Rep., Idaho, declined to enter such an arrangement, inasmuch as they were in the majority. They have been writing both industrial and agricultural rates, almost as they pleased.

Unless there is some change in the situation by Monday, Copeland intends to renew his plea for a recess until the regular session of Congress opens, Dec. 2.

The session last night was devoted to the tomato rate, the Senate finally voting a rate of 3 cents a pound as compared with the 1 cent existing law and 3 cents in the House bill.

In addition to Vandenberg, those in "The New Guard" which has supplanted the so-called Republican "Old Guard" are Allen, Kan.; Patterson, Mo.; Hobert, R. I.; Townsend Hastings, Del.; Kean, N. J.; Goldsborough, Md.; Hatfield, West Va.; Walcott, Conn.; McCulloch, O.; and Glenn, Ill.

Twenty-One Hurt In Boat Collision

Liverpool, Nov. 15—(AP)—Twenty-one persons were injured, seven seriously in a collision between the ferry steamer Marlowe and a local ferry. There were 2,000 passengers on the ferry.

The crash took place only about forty yards from the landing stage and the sound of the impact as well as the screams of those aboard the ferry could be heard all along the waterfront.

The Avenging Parrot

© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

by Anne Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives," etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, said to keep a board of money in her room on the second floor of Mrs. RHODES' boarding house, is strangled to death. BONNIE DUNDIE, "bad" detective assisting LIEUT. STRAWN, attaches significance to the utterance "Bad Penny" made by CAPT. Mrs. Hogarth's parrot.

Suspicion falls on EMIL SEVIER, former boarder whom Mrs. Hogarth has accused of trying to rob her and who leaves town hurriedly. Strawn quizzes HENRY DUNDIE, new boarder, out of words who insists he was asleep. CORA BARKER, theater pianist, tells a statement with BEN MAGNUS, another boarder, who is an amateur scenario writer, on of his failure to appear. She returns to the house to hear his typing in his room at 12:10. She frankly denies being Sevier's accomplice.

NORMA PAIGE, latest boarder under Mrs. Hogarth's will, admitting on her late that night, and of arousing her anger by confessing her engagement to WALTER STYLES. Styles corroborates Norma's admission she came to his room to tell him of the interview and also confesses his anger with Mrs. Hogarth.

Magnus says he typed until 12:15. DAISSY SHEPHERD, absent at the time of the murder, says she was in the kitchen robbing the ice box. The next morning Dundie makes a speech asking the boarders to remain. All agree but Daisy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XX

"ANY news, chief?" Dundie asked Strawn when the two detectives were again in Mrs. Hogarth's room.

"Nothing new," Strawn admitted wearily. Then, to Boyle, the uniformed policeman who had kept watch in the room and who looked sadly in need of sleep, "Anything happen after we left, Boyle?"

"Quiet as the grave," Boyle answered caustically. "The parrot squawked once or twice, but I shut his trap by covering up his cage with one of the old dame's skirts."

As Strawn dismissed the policeman, Dundie stepped to the cage and removed the smothering skirt. "Poor Cap'n!" he sympathized.

"Nearly dead, old top? I'll fill your water dish."

And he did, reaching fearlessly into the cage while Strawn looked on in amazement, for the drooping, dispirited bird made no attempt to nip his fingers. Dundie filled the little dish from the tap of the basin behind the green burlap screen, returned it to the cage, and, with the door still open, stroked the bird's feathers with a gentle hand. Suddenly he uttered a startled exclamation.

"What is it?" Strawn asked sharply, striding to the cage.

"Look!" And Dundie drew out something between thumb and forefinger and offered it for his chief's inspection. "What would you say this is, Strawn?"

Lieutenant Strawn took the thing rolled it on his palm. "Looks like a bit of skin, doesn't it? Now how did that get into the parrot's cage?"

"Cora Barker burned her hand last night, chief," Dundie reminded him softly. "Rather an odd time—a quarter past 12—for a tired, hot working woman to decide to press a dress she would not wear till Sunday, wasn't it?"

"You think she burned her hand to cover up the evidence that she'd been bitten by the parrot?" Strawn demanded, in amazement. "Well, if that's so, I guess we've got her dead to rights as Sevier's accomplice! I'll have a look at that hand—"

"Just a minute, chief," Dundie begged. "I found two or three rather important items in Mrs. Hogarth's diary, and this morning in talking with Mrs. Rhodes before the others came down, I learned a few other things that seem pretty important to me."

Cora cowered in her chair. The bandaged hand fluttered to her heart. "You know I was—in here!" she gasped.

IN spite of the chief's impatience, Dundie quietly read the noteworthy excerpts from the diary, then told in detail his conversation with Mrs. Rhodes.

"Don't you agree with me, lieutenant," he concluded eagerly, "that there may be another motive for the crime that we haven't discovered yet? It seems absolutely clear to me that the old lady had no hidden miser's hoard in this room—"

"Makes no difference, if Sevier and Cora Barker thought she did," Strawn interrupted almost angrily.

"Bad penny!" Dundie reminded him stubbornly.

"Bosh!" Strawn dismissed the idea contemptuously.

"I'm afraid it isn't bosh," Dundie insisted quietly. "For five years, by her own written admission, Mrs. Hogarth lived in 'dread'—not fear, mind you, but dread—that D. S.'s husband, would 'turn up.' It seems pretty clear to me that S. and Mrs. Hogarth fled from their home town."

"I don't know whether they deserted D. or whether he had already deserted them, but the two women, Mrs. Hogarth here, and S. in some other city, dreaded his 'turning up.'"

"Suppose he did 'turn up' in Hamiliton with the express purpose of seeing Mrs. Hogarth. She dreaded his turning up, but she has recorded no fear of consequences to herself if he did appear. What if D. came through that window last night, and Mrs. Hogarth saw him? She would not cry out to alarm the house, if she recognized him, but she might very well greet him with the old proverb, sarcastically: 'So the bad penny has turned up at last. I can imagine, chief, that those words 'bad penny' were re-

lowed by his anxious wife. "If you females wouldn't break the rules and wash your hair in the basin, things like this wouldn't happen." Dusty complained disgustedly as he knelt to ply his wrench.

A minute later, as Dusty pulled out the upper section of the drain pipe, its little cross bars matted with long black hair, Dundie risked exposure of his connection with the police by staying the hand of the landlady's husband.

"Let me see that before you clean it," he ordered quickly.

And over Dusty's protest he took the short section of drain pipe, and walked to the window with it. Strawn followed, bending curiously over his subordinate as Dundie's fingers began to untangle the mass of hair.

"Look!" he urged in a whisper, though the others had not drawn near. "Pellets of paper caught in among the hairs. Paper stained with green ink!"

"Well?" Strawn puzzled.

"A page was torn from Mrs. Hogarth's diary last night—the entry of May 19." Dundie answered in so low a voice that it could not carry to the group around the basin. "Here it is—or what is left of it! And last night the parrot nipped a piece of flesh from Cora Barker's hand!"

STRAWN granted incredulously. But quickly removed all the tiny pellets of water-soaked paper from the tangled mass of hair.

"Go and take your place behind the screen in Mrs. Hogarth's room," Strawn directed, his lips scarcely moving. Then, turning toward the group about the basin, he said in a normal voice: "That'll be all now, Dundie. Don't leave the house. I may want to question you again."

"Say, can I go on with this here job?" Dusty whined. "I got other work to do."

"Here you are, Rhodes," Strawn conceded cheerfully, as Dundie hurried out of the room, striving to give a perfect imitation of a man incensed by the unjust suspicions of the police.

Two or three minutes later, Dundie from behind the screen saw Strawn enter the room, followed by a terrified woman, her head wrapped in the damp bath towel, her bandaged hand instinctively hidden in the folds of her kimono.

"I don't know what you want of me!" Cora protested angrily. "It's a crime to wash your hair on Sunday—"

"For the moment, I'm not interested in the blue laws," Strawn said with terrible humor. "I'm merely interested in the law relating to robbery and—murder."

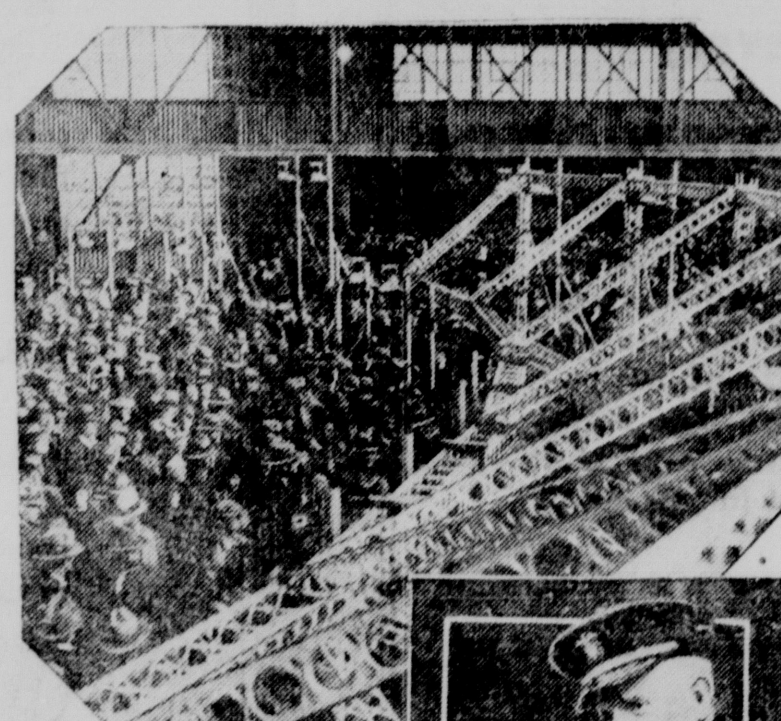

"Oh!" Cora gasped, and swayed as if she were about to faint.

"Here! Take this chair, Miss Barker. And don't faint. I'll simply have to use valuable time to revive you, and you'll be questioned anyway. Now—suppose you tell me the truth about last night, not the nice little fairy story you fed me at 2 o'clock this morning. . . . No, wait a minute! I know you didn't get home until about 10 minutes after 12. I checked your alibi—that fact! Now suppose you begin at the moment you turned into the Rhodes House grounds. I want to know everything—including just why and when you entered Mrs. Hogarth's room, and what you did here!"

Cora cowered in her chair. The bandaged hand fluttered to her heart. "You—you know—I was—in here?" she gasped.

And now construction of the first American-built Zeppelin is under way. A "Model Market" The Fords Built with produce from the Ford's garden at Dearborn, Mich., this "model market" was exhibited in New York at a convention of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, of which Mrs. Ford is president.

Medric Hussey delightfully entertained the American Legion Auxiliary at her home with a goodly number present. Mrs. George Spangler gave the oath of office and properly installed the following as officers for the ensuing year:

President—Ruth Hussey

First Vice President—Drucilla Banker

Second Vice President—Hannah Conlon

Secretary—Edith Morgan

Treasurer—Aureola Spangler

Chaplain—Mary Gonnerman

Historian—Grace Breunier

After the report of the secretary was read Mrs. Hussey told of her plans for the coming year. It could be seen that she had spent much time and thought in deciding upon the work which is to be taken up.

OOOrders for the Christmas cards are to be taken for one week longer.

Chance cards on the luncheon set, which was most kindly donated to this unit by Mrs. Corabel George of Dixon, are to be sold.

Mrs. Spangler is in charge of this and is to place the luncheon set on display in F. D. Kelley's store.

After the business of the meeting was completed the ladies made Thanksgiving favors for the Edward B. Hines, Jr. hospital at Maywood while a social hour was enjoyed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nellie Stewart on November 27th. All members are urged to remember this date and plan to attend.

P. T. A. Meeting

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. was held Friday evening in the school building. The room was filled with folks who are interested in our public school, and all enjoyed the fine program. A short session was held, with reports from officers and communities. E. C. Gross, chairman of the membership committee, reported seventy members—an encouraging advance toward the goal of 100 members. The yearly dues are only 25 cents and all who are interested in the advancement of our schools should belong to this organization. See Mr. Gross or some other member of the membership committee and they will gladly add your name to the roll of members. The publicity committee announces that for November these dates be remembered and duly observed: November 11 to 17, American Education Week, when we may get into closer touch with the work of our schools through visiting them and showing a spirit of interest and co-operation.

November 17 to 22 is Children's Book Week, when parents, teachers and librarians are asked to co-operate in bringing good reading to the children.

Every Friday during November between 4:30 and 5:00 p. m. WMAQ will broadcast a program for the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. Tune in at this hour and learn more of the work and interests of the P. T. A. movement.

Mrs. Rorick led the audience in two songs, "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning".

Rev. A. E. Thomas gave a fine talk on "Character and Dangers of Adolescence". He mentioned the dangers in our present system of education. 1—The over emphasis of play; 2—the over intellectualizing of life and education, and 3—the under-valuation of religion. His ground on these points was well taken and many helpful thoughts were brought out.

A fine treat to music lovers were the two violin numbers, "Largo" by Handel, and "Minuet in G" by Beethoven, rendered by Dean Ball of the Dixon high school, with Mrs. Rorick accompanist. Mr. Ball has a real musical touch and for one so young surely shows great promise.

The main address of the evening "Education for Ethical Character Building" given by President C. Ernest Davis of Mt. Morris College was one of the best given in our town recently. He brought out three essentials as necessary in considering and carrying out the highest of democracy. 1—Discussion, believe in the truth, and 2—The truth, then all forces working together for the common good, and 3—Sympathetic understanding, seeing the subject from the other fellow's viewpoint. These three principles, dominated and shot through with the spirit of Jesus of Nazareth, will solve the problems of the world today. The address brought to a close one of the best programs of the P. T. A. On account of the holiday activities, there will be no meeting until January 10.

Kindly Deed.

Forty-two men with twenty wagons met Friday morning at the farm where Mrs. Bailey Breeze lives, and proceeded to pick forty acres of corn, averaging fifty bushels to the acre. Some of the men and wagons were in the field ready to work at daybreak and by 2:30 in the afternoon all the work was done, and the men ready to go to their homes. A most excellent dinner was served, eight ladies assisting in the preparation and serving. Bread for the dinner was contributed by Conlon's Grocery and Fish's Grocery, while a liberal allowance on the price of the meat was donated by Schultz meat market. A number of interested folks who could not assist in corn-picking purchased the meat. Most surely this kindly act was greatly appreciated by Mrs. Breeze, her husband being in a sanitarium for treatment. Folks of the neighborhood, other friends in the community and members of the Brethren Sunday school,
